Every day new proposals are being developed concerning the storage of Agency records. Here are two more.

The first plan blossomed about a week or two ago when we first heard [Redacted] recommended abolishing his job. [Redacted] immediately recommended taking over the emergency supplies but and I asked him to gather details,

The second one is an expansion by 17,000 feet of an action we took with end-of-year funds in the Spring of 1968. We bought $3,000 worth of shelving to double up more of our shelving. Those supplies arrived this Spring when we were active at [Redacted] We are holding the equipment and its use will depend on the final decisions of management.

These two alternatives for short-term solutions are worth your consideration along with the others.
